Strategies for Simultaneously Leading and Doing Education in Record Time

Dr. Nancy Koff will discuss methods to operationalize the curricular design and implementation process, and techniques for keeping the curricular process moving forward--quickly and staying on track to your goals. She will offer strategies for making it possible for new educational leaders to meet their administrative and teaching goals in the face of ever-increasing competition for their time.

May 29
12 pm-4 pm

Las Vegas

Dr. Koff will make a formal presentation and discussion with faculty regarding achieving quick, effective curricular innovations. After a short break, she will facilitate a discussion of professional development for women faculty. Plan to attend one or both sessions.

May 30
12 pm-4 pm

Reno

Dr. Koff will provide a similar program, with formal presentation and then a focus on professional development issues for women in medicine.
